

NOTES

I find it funny that the people who most dislike the way I look tend to worship a guy they believe looked just like me.

WELCOME

Welcome, dear reader, to the first ever issue of Metal Mavericks! Making my own zine is something that I've wanted to do for years, but just never got round to it really innit? Pic in the middle is me btw ^_^

I wanted to create a zine that touched on all facets of metal culture, so in this issue (and future ones) you'll see a mix of reviews, interviews, as well as news reports on happenings taking place within the metal scene. I don't know about everyone reading this, but I'm definitely super excited to see how this turns out in the long run.

The Metal Mavericks team consists of Goatloard of the Nietzschean Depths (myself), as well as my good friends Gyte Ov Azareth and Exalted Desecrator Ov Thy Christ's Sanctuary, who I met many years ago at Sunday school, many years before any of us got into metal. I do all the writing whilst Gyte and Exalted are Metal Maverick's very own investigative journalists, which is pretty neat because it means that I don't have to step away from my favourite Mongolian basket weaving forums in order to go out and interview people.

This issue we have many super interesting things for you to read about. I'm sure most of you are aware of the ongoing civil war between fans of extreme metal and fans of mallcore/coreshit that has resulted in the killings of several posers - well, we managed to talk directly to somebody who claimed to be responsible for the poser killings! We also have news about the upcoming musical projects of Justin Bieber and G.I.S.M. frontman Sakevi Yokoyama, as well as interviews with former child star-turned proto-hyperpop laughing stock Corey Feldman. I don't know about you but I feel that to say this this issue is jam-packed with super dope content would be the understatement of the century.

Anyway, it's getting to the point where I'm just waffling on to reduce the amount of empty white space on this page. Do you like ice cream? I'm not that bothered but apparently I'm supposed to ask people questions and feign interest in their lives if I want them to like me? Beats me...

...But yeah, that's me for now. Have fun reading this issue of Metal Mavericks, stay metal, and remember... fuck posers!

POSER WAR CONTINUES

Another three posers have been found dead in the streets within the past week, reports Gyte Ov Azareth, our resident investigative journalist. It is unknown whether or not these killings are premeditated or spontaneous, whether they are all connected via the hand of one killer or separate killings carried out by different individuals, or whether or not the victims provoked the murderer prior to their death. One thing is very clear though - wimps and posers must leave the hall, unless they wish to lose their life.

Are posers worried? "We're terrified" says xX_rAWrM0n$ta_Xx (what the fuck is this, 2005? lol), who appeared to be so testosterone deprived that I honestly considered calling an ambulance because I was worried he was gonna suddenly collapse and die halfway through our interview. "I don't think it's right that I have to constantly be looking over my shoulder at night just because some dude that looked like me once claimed that pop punk was metal on an internet forum ten years ago." Fucking grim bruv.

We were able to get in contact with a man (more a boy judging by the nasally high pitched register of his voice when we spoke together on the phone) who claimed to be responsible for the poser killings. He told us his name was Bestial Desecration Ov The Sacred Son (see above right), and that he carried out the killings because "posers aren't trve kvlt." Didn't he feel any remorse for his murderous ways? "Not really, metalcore is fucking lame br... HEY I FUCKED YOUR MUM FUCKING KILL YOUR-SELF BRO!" I'm sorry? "Sorry, Xbox Live." Fair enough mate it's happened to the best of us.

Unfortunately, we were unable to continue our interview after his mother(?) started yelling at him from downstairs to stop verbally degrading the mothers of other perpetually online neckbeards, and he hung up the phone (we assume out of embarrassment). Bit peak really...

Do I feel bad about any of this? Not really, never been into crabcore or anything like that and always thought it was really annoying when me and some other neckbeard would be online, having an absolutely riveting discussion about some obscure Indonesian OSDM band from 1993, and some poser would interrupt our talk to be like "hey bro Fall Out Boy is metal fucking kill yourself elitist." (shoutout Racetractor and killtheslavemaster though they're the real OG's)

Karma really innit?

15 YEAR OLD DECLARES WAR ON CHRISTIANITY

A 15 year old satanist has been reported to have 'declared war on Christianity,' reputable news outlets have claimed.

Dave Brown, 15, (pictured below) posted the message "I Declare War On Christianity, If There Is A God He Will Have To Pray For MY Forgiveness" to his Facebook account (people under the age of 60 still use Facebook apparently) last Sunday. We don't know how each and all of his 7 Facebook Friends felt about this rather confrontational message, but we imagine it was quite shocking.

Mrs. Crouch, Dave's English teacher, told us that this was typical behaviour from the student who often claimed to be "too smart for school" despite "objectively appalling" GCSE mock exam results.

"He's always drawing Pentagrams on the back of his hand in class," she says. "Bless his heart, he drew the wiccan pentagram by accident but I didn't have the heart to tell him that it was the wrong way round." Bit false if you ask me.

Dave Brown was recently banned from St Cecelia's church after nervously mumbling "Jesus Sucks" to the pastor whilst staring at his feet in "sheer terror."

"We don't usually ban sinners from our parish but this shit is simply not on," says Reverend Bob, St. Cecelia's bossman and resident madlad. "Mind you, I don't know if we were too harsh on him though, poor lad obviously wasn't the most confident of chaps, looked like he was gonna chunder all over the fucking place to be honest."

We at Metal Mavericks can't predict how Dave's 'War on Christianity' will unfold, though if we're being completely honest he isn't really putting up much of a fight really, is he? DYEL Dave?

Didn't think so.

JUSTIN BIEBER STARTS WAR METAL BAND

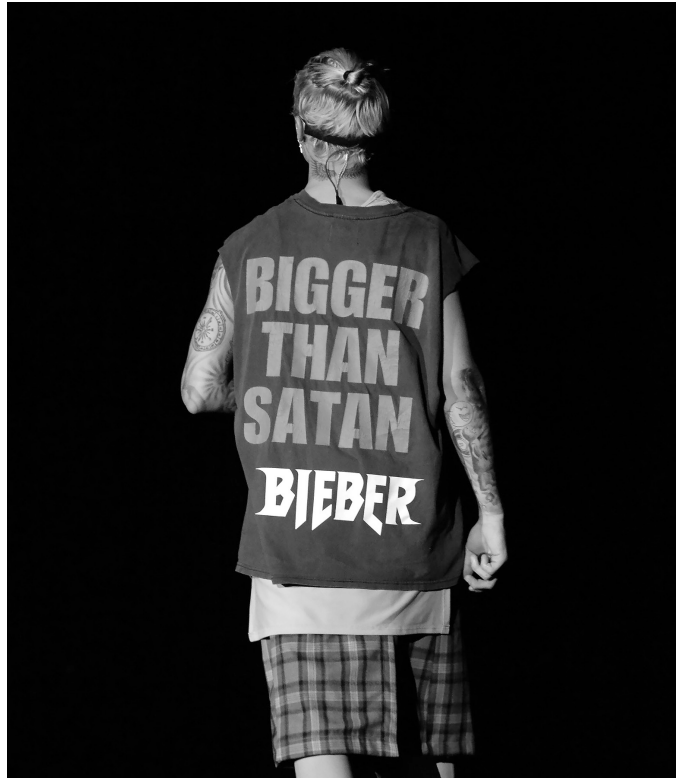

Canadian pop sensation Justin Bieber announced last Wednesday that he would be forming a war metal band alongside Irish pop duo Jedward, identical twins who are most well known for being contestants in the 2009 series of The X Factor.

Bieber, who is mostly known for being a teen heartthrob that produces easily marketable pop music, shocked many with this sudden announcement. Many questioned whether or not Bieber's social media had been hacked by internet trolls, whether or not it was an early April Fool's prank, or whether by 'war metal,' Bieber actually meant some form of core-shit/mallcore.

Our own investigative journalist Exalted Desecrator Ov Thy Christ's Sanctuary reached out to Bieber's PR team to figure out what the actual fuck was happening. What was perhaps more shocking than the announcement that Bieber made about starting a war metal band was that Bieber personally took the time to reply to us, enthusiastically so too. Below is his statement:

"Hey Metal Mavericks, thanks for reaching out! Yeah man, I'm really starting a war metal band. Crazy huh? I know what you're thinking - 'I bet this is just Bieber confusing genres and working on some shite crabcore side project.' Don't worry, this couldn't be further than the truth.

I've always been a massive fan of Archgoat, Bestial Warlust, Tetragrammacide and other similar bands - fuck, I remember getting Conqueror's War Cult Supremacy on vinyl for my 5th birthday, so as you can see this isn't new to me. They were never the same after regrouping as Revenge, but at the end of the day they're still fellow Canadians so I love 'em all the same.

But yeah, war metal? Love it mate. Hey, remember when I had that really shit emo hair back in 2009? Fucking hated it mate, despised it bruv. I personally objected to my stylists and the record execs that forced me to have my hair like that; I told them that that shit was for fucking posers, do I look like I listen to Pierce the Veil? Come on bruv have some class. But yeah, the past is the past and all that, so uh... yeah... new war metal project coming soon! Thanks guys, have a good one.

And remember... fuck posers!"

Genuinely riveting stuff.

SAKEVI YOKOYAMA BECOMES K-POP STAR

G.I.S.M. frontman, international terrorist and The Land Before Time fanboy Sakevi Yokoyama is reported to have signed with YG Entertainment and has fully transitioned to being a solo K-pop star.

Yokoyama, who must be well into his late 50s judging by the fact that Detestation, G.I.S.M.'s debut album, was released almost 40 years ago, released a picture of his new look on Instagram on Sunday, (see right) looking barely recognisable and barely over 18.

YG, YG Entertainment oppa/hyeong/bossman and former Seo Taiji and Boys backup dancer/side-man, said he was "very excited" to be working with Yokoyama on his new sound.

"You know, I've always been a massive G.I.S.M. fan. Most people just know Endless Blockades For The Pussyfooter, but personally I think Soniccrime Therapy (G.I.S.M.'s last album, released in 2001) is where it's at, riffs for days mate I'm telling you."

"When I heard that Sakevi wanted to sign to YG and become a K-pop star I nearly bust a nut so fat that I would have failed No Nut November 5 years in a row. I was astounded!"

Though his appearance and sound may have softened, Yokoyama's character still appears to be as ruthless as ever. Following a recent press conference related to his signing with YG and sudden shift in appearance and sound, Yokoyama was greeted by a manic horde of smelly teenage K-pop stans intent on clawing apart little pieces of his flesh to keep for themselves as keepsakes? Yokoyama's response? Chase them all off with a chainsaw, a classic Sakevi routine that is as old as time itself.

Some things never change at all, do they?

REVIEWS

DEMILICH - NESPITHE:

Not really feeling this Demilich album tbh. Where are the breakdowns? Why does the dude sound like a literal frog monster? So many questions and so little answers provided.

You know what I do like though? Asking Alexandria, that's who. Riffs, chugs, catchy choruses, tasty synth lines. Attack! Attack! too, great band, shame they broke up.

But yeah this Demilich album is absolute shite, they're not even cute emo boys but greasy neckbeards with hair down to their arse what the actual fuck?

WEAKLING - DEAD AS DREAMS

One thing (possibly the one thing) I like about Weakling is that they've displayed a fuckton of self-awareness when it comes to naming their band and their album. What I mean by that is yo, this shit is fucking weak, bro! Where are the jumpdafukup grooves bro? Yo I can't groove to this wank. It's dead bruv, it's fucking dead. You guys never had any dreams worth mentioning to begin with it's just dead. 1/10

diSEMBOWELMENT - TRANSCENDENCE INTO THE PERIPHERAL:

zzzzzz...

Just hurry up and play some riffs losers! enough with the slow parts lol

CENOTAPH - GLOOMY REFLECTION OF OUR HIDDEN SORROWS

Not many people have heard of Cenotaph so they can't be that good, can they?

DYING FETUS - DESTROY THE OPPOSITION

What a tasteless band name. Destroying things is mean guys, why would you do such a fucked up thing? -3/10

ATTILA - ABOUT THAT LIFE

Now that's more like it! Riffs for days, plus they're rich as fuck, unlike you, you fucking peasant. If you dislike Attila you're just mad because they're rich and you're poor and working at McDonalds and also Chris Fronzak probably did bible study with your crush so you're just projecting really tbh

I'm certainly about that life... are you?

YUNGBLUD - WEIRD!

10/10. Need I say more?

Fucking brutal album mate

UPCOMING ALBUMS

BRING ME THE HORIZON - COUNT UR BLE$$INGZ II - THA REDUX

Bring Me The Horizon were a death-core band, then a coreshit band, then a coreshit/pop rock band, then a pop rock band, then a pop rock/mallcore revival band - now they've decided to become a noisecore/power electronics outfit. Spooky stuff! Better than Pray for Plagues? I reckon so.

LYKATHEA AFLAME - ELVENEFRIS II

Lykathea Aflame are back after 21 years with another album full of progressive death metal goodness. It's like Elvenefris but even better... syke! Of course they haven't finished that new album. You know who else isn't releasing a new album soon? Necrophagist. You know who else? Intestine Baalism. Hard luck dickhead.

DECAYING SANITY - Clap!! Clap!! Sanity!!

Malaysian OSDM OG's Decaying Sanity recently reunited after breaking up in 1994, leaving behind two EP's worth of grimy, cavernous OSDM that merged the dirgelike sound of Finnish bands such as Abhorrence and Sentenced with the technicality and structural complexity of proto-brutal/tech death such as Suffocation, old Gorguts, and Atrocity before they started making music for goth neckbeards. Really underrated stuff IMHO. But yeah, they suddenly decided to come back for some reason - what's weirder is that they reunited as a hyperpop/denpa act, which is weird because all the members are probably in their early 50s by now, not gonna lie I'm a bit surprised they've even heard about hyperpop or denpa given their age. Nonetheless, it will be interesting to hear their new sound, although I'm still sad that they never released a full length back in the 90s because their old death metal sound had a lot of unexplored potential.

DECREPIT DIRGE - STEEPED WITHIN FUTILITY EXPANSION PACK FOR DONKEY KONG JUNGLE BEAT

Decrepit Dirge are well known for being a brutal death metal band that decided to replace the drum section with bongos, literal bongos. Who doesn't love bongos? If I'm dating a girl and it transpires that she doesn't fuck with bongos, I don't care how quirky or compassionate or cute or fashionable she is, she's out, Ayy Ess Ayy Pee. I really like bongos even though I've never played them and probably never will, although actually I think there was this one time when I was like nine or some shit and a bongo lady came into my school and they made us all play bongos, I think my palms stang for a bit because I hit them too hard on the hard and scary ridge-y bit etc.

...But yeah, Decrepit Dirge have a new DLC pack for Donkey Kong Jungle Beat on Gamecube, even though that game came out 17 years ago and the Gamecube doesn't even have online functionality and therefore downloading DLC is literally impossible. Dunno quite how they worked around that but I'm sure they came up with something, and whenever I can actually be bothered to get my Wii up and running again and pay an extortionate amount of money for both Donkey Kong Jungle Beat and the bongos on ebay, I will most certainly give the Steeped Within Futility expansion pack a go. Nice one lads.

write ur own article
here:

idk what to put here

You know, I've been thinking lately: why am I so mean to posers? Don't get me wrong, at the end of the day, the only good poser is a dead one, but why? You know, I'm starting to feel that all this rabid poser hate is unwarranted, and that I never actually hated posers to begin with but just wanted to fit in with the metal community and so went along with the poser bashing because it's what everyone else around me did. or whatever, maybe I do hate posers and this is just me overthinking shit and being an insecure little b-word (not actually gonna say the word in question lads, gotta take a stand against internalised sexism and all that lovely stuff innit). Anyway that's enough writing for today (7 minutes work carried out in total, trust me babes I timed it), so feel free to admire this empty white space to the right:

FAN PHOTO GALLERY

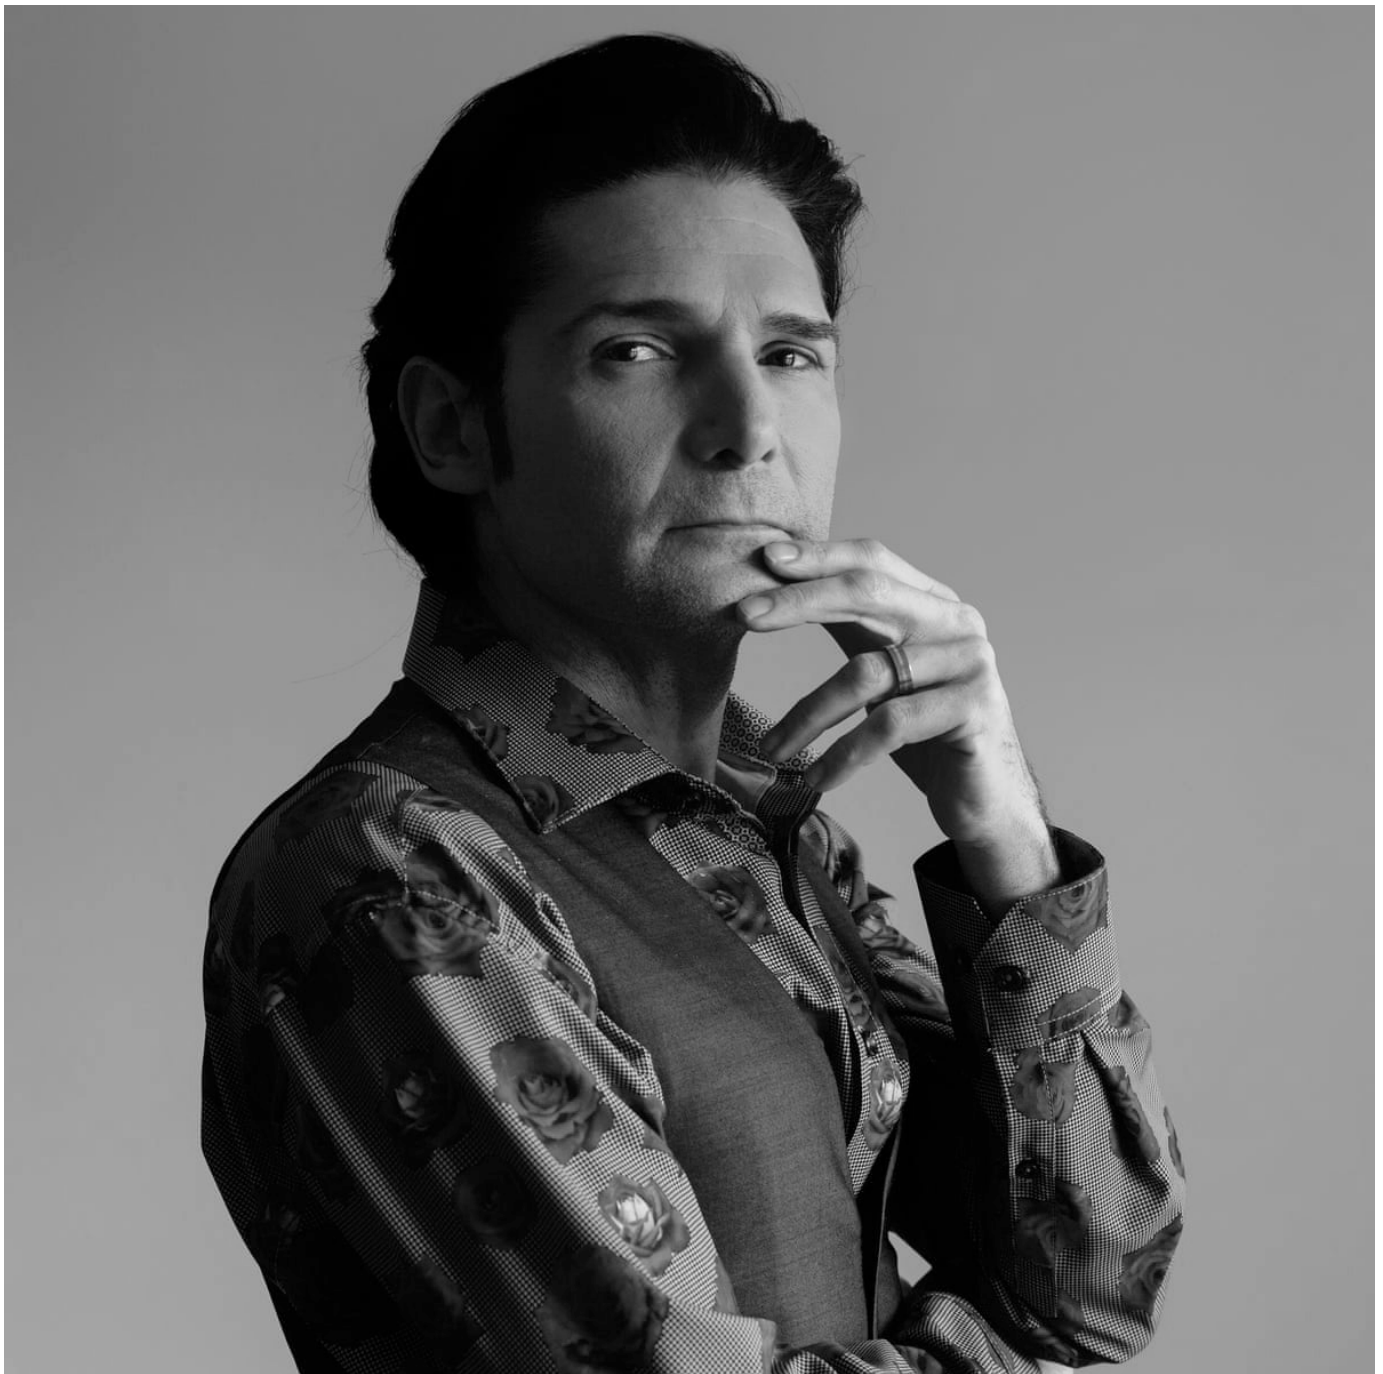

COREY FELDMAN INTERVIEW

Former child star Corey Feldman is perhaps more well known today for his divisive, yet nonetheless unique, 2016 album Angelic 2 The Core, which a lot of people hated but honestly, I didn't get the hate for it because it didn't sound any more obnoxious than 100 Gecs, who everybody loves despite the fact that they are the literal sonic equivalent of horse vomit. Anyway, I've found that trying to understand why other people are so stupid doesn't really work out all that well so I won't dwell on the topic any more...

The reason why I bring up Mr. Feldman today is because he recently released a 7 track goregrind album on Bandcamp. At first people couldn't tell whether or not his Bandcamp had been hacked, but after a week Corey came out and confirmed that no, he was for real, we doing goregrind now bitches. We thought it'd be fun to get in touch with Corey and ask him a few questions

Hey Corey! How have you been?

Hey man, thanks for getting in touch with me! Yeah man I've been pretty good, taking it easy after dropping the new EP last week (laughs)

What made you want to release a goregrind EP?

You know, following the release of Angelic... back in 2016, I've had a lot of time to think and reflect. A lot. And you know, it felt like with my music, I was trying to be somebody I wasn't, it felt like I was trying to force a persona to obtain something that I never really wanted in the first place

A lot of people really hated that album

Yeah they really did man, they really did. At the time it really hurt to see people pan it like that, I mean, I spent over a decade working on it you know? When you pour that much time and energy into something, it can be really dehumanising when you don't get a big return on investment. But you know, thinking about how much people hated it didn't help matters, and I certainly couldn't force people to like something they disliked. So I figured that it was best to just abandon everything related to that album for the foreseeable future to clear my head.

For 6 months I took good care of myself. I started exercising regularly, got back in touch with nature, started meditating, read How to Win Friends and Influence People to learn how to make friends [fourth wall break: Tom here, I'm halfway through this book right now and it's answered so many questions I had about why I couldn't effectively connect with people, I only started reading it like a week ago but I've already put the principles I learned into practice and made like 3 new friends. Ok bai now!!], you know, all that good stuff. And when I finally cleared my head I was able to see Angelic... for what it really was - a disgustingly sloppy and smelly heap of dog shit! I realised that I was chasing an idea of fame that I'd never actually wanted by trying to produce a sound that I didn't even like in the first place, and only now do I realise why people thought Angelic... was so bad.

Happy for you man, as Zyzz (rip) said, 'We're all gonna make it'
Hell yeah man! Miss that dude so much

So how does the goregrind EP fit into all of this?

Well after I came to that realisation about Angelic..., I thought that it was best to keep my distance from music for a bit, you know, I like contemporary art too so for a bit I was doing these really bougie undocumented situational performance art pieces, not in a gallery or anything just out on the streets of LA. Goldsmiths Tarquin type shit you know?

Right.

Yeah, so that was fun for a bit, but about eight months in I realised that something was missing. Something deep inside we was gnawing at me in its' absence. I soon realised that that something was music, but obviously I couldn't just go back to doing what I was doing back in 2016, right? So I had to restart my relationship with music from scratch, and got into it for the sake of music, not for fame or recognition. I soon discovered what I had been missing my whole life, and that something was goregrind.

Honestly man, I'm genuinely happy for you, it's great to hear that you were able to climb out of a rough patch and make good. What would you say to others in a similar position to the one you were in?

Everything I say on the matter is gonna sound like normie meme bs, but honestly? Just be true to yourself man, at the end of the day you only have one life to live and if you're not living it according to your principles, then you may as well be dead. Don't go around overstepping other people's lines, but don't feel bad about refusing to let others overstep your own either. Mental health comes before everything else, so if you're deeply unhappy take care of that ASAP. Drink enough water, eat good food, get enough sleep each night, shower daily, meditate daily, see a therapist, that kind of thing. Physical health matters too - exercise daily, both lifting weights and cardio, don't eat shitty food, and you'll see an improvement sooner than you think. If you feel directionless, try and find something you're really passionate about, better yet have a few hobbies that you're into - this will keep you mind pre-occupied with happy thoughts and you'll meet people that you connect with more easily. Capitalism is a bitch but that doesn't mean that you can't make a good life for yourself - get into stocks and crypto, and look at if there's anyway you can profit off of stuff you do for fun. Don't make the mistake of being a lone wolf either - the lone wolf dies alone. Most people are good people and have something unique to share, even if you two aren't compatible that doesn't mean you shouldn't try. If you're that one doomer who adopts a 'me against the world' mindset and thinks everyone else is a braindead normie then drop that shit. Ask questions about the other person more than you speak about yourself. Getting a girlfriend or boyfriend or non binary partner is a natural byproduct of becoming more sociable and charismatic in general, so don't sweat it! Just don't get into PUA shit lol those guys are sad

Well Corey, that seems like a bunch of great advice to live your life by! Too bad we've run out of space to talk about the goregrind project

Honestly man it's fine, I need to take a massive shit so not gonna lie I wouldn't have been able to talk about the goregrind project anyway. Bai!!

Well there you have it lads... Corey Feldman! This new EP reeks... of putrefaction, that is! Seriously nasty stuff, if you haven't checked it out yet you're missing out.

BIPOLAR STORM INTERVIEW

Bipolar Storm are a group of power metal obsessed teenagers who, in all honesty, would probably be better off establishing an exercise regimen, learning how to fucking clean themselves, learning social skills and focusing on their schoolwork than they would be wasting their youth in a shitty power metal band, the absolute worst thing you could do that isn't coreshit or nu metal (of course). We caught up with them for a bit because mum had enough of me telling people on Mongolian basket weaving forums that I'd fucked their mums and hey, it's not like I have a life of my own to live anyway, so why not piss away a few hours interviewing some power metal loving neckbeards?

How did you guys meet each other?

Kyle: Bipolar Storm started about a year ago when I first saw Shaun wearing a Slipknot shirt in school. I walked up to him and was like 'Hey, idk if you got the memo but Slipknot fucking sucks dude, stop being a fucking poser.'

Shaun: Yeah, that was basically it. I was like, 'who does this prick think he is, what the fuck?' so I just glared at him and walked off. The next day, I went to the practice rooms to jam with my brother Darren (Bipolar Storm's guitarist), we go away for like 2 minutes to get some lunch, we come back and this fucking dickhead's just sitting there all smug by the drum kit.

Kyle: More or less. I was like, 'hey poser, don't fucking piss me off'

Darren: We tried to get Kyle to piss off but he just wouldn't budge, so we swallowed our pride and let him jam with us. It was alright I guess

Kyle: That's basically how Bipolar Storm came to be.

Shaun: We got Bro-

Kyle: I hadn't finished talking...

But yeah, I figured we needed a vocalist if we wanted to be taken seriously as a band. Luckily, my friend Brody was more than happy to help out.

Brody: Yeah, this is like what... my 3rd year of being held back in 8th grade? I dunno.

Kyle: You're kinda dumb dude

Brody: haha I guess so (Brody winces uncomfortably)

Kyle: That wasn't a joke you fucking moron, you're actually really stupid and I fucking hate explaining things to you

(an uncomfortable silence fills the room)

What kind of bands influence your music?

(Shaun and Kyle both go to speak at the same time - Kyle glares at Shaun, part of Shaun dies inside as he glares at his feet in shame)

Kyle: For me, Bipolar Storm is just balls of steel, alpha male, no bullshit heavy metal. I'd consider myself superior to most humans, and I think the energy that we as a band give out reflects that. Unfortunately these guys are all fucking betas but my big dick energy makes up for that so it's all good

(more uncomfortable silence)

Darren: I like Halloween, they're alright

Shaun: I like Blind Guardian

Brody: I like Suicide Silence

(Kyle's face suddenly turns green - saliva slowly drips from his mouth as he growls slowly. Suddenly, he snaps)

Kyle: DUDE WHAT THE FUCK IS WRONG WITH YOU YOU FUCKING POSER GET THE
FUCK OUT OF MY BAND HOLY FUCKING
SHIT THIS WAS A MISTAKE WHY DID I
DO THIS WHY HAVE I FAILED THE GODS
AARRRUGGGGGHIPYGVUYGUTFG

(Punches and miscellaneous objects are thrown at Brody by Kyle. Brody runs out the room in tears, clutching his head for protection)

What does the future hold for Bipolar Storm?

Kyle: Well, you see...

(Shaun has Just About McFucking Had It)

Shaun: GOD, DO YOU EVER JUST SHUT THE FUCK UP YOU FUCKING SACK OF SHIT???? WHY ARE YOU SUCH A SELF ABSORBED TWAT ALL OF THE TIME???? CAN YOU JUST, LIKE, GO FUCK YOUR-SELF?!?!?!?

Kyle: AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAARRRRRRRRRRRRR-
RRRRRRRRRRRRRRGGGGGGGGGGGGGGGGGGGH-HHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
woof woof!

(Suddenly, the two start beating the absolute shit out of each other - luscious metalhead locks are pulled out, shirt are torn, flesh is partially eaten. Darren tries to break the fight up, but fails miserably - the three lads turn into a really smelly, angsty Kata-mari ball. The Katamari ball goes on to absorb everything in the room, the room itself, the other rooms in the building, the building itself, the other buildings on the block, the block itself, several blocks in the area, the area itself... you get what I'm inferring at, I'm sure)

Well well well! Bipolar Storm really were lightning in a bottle, weren't they? I said, Bipolar Storm really were lightning in a bottle, weren't they?

Ha ha ha...

...anyway, that's enough from me, all that insanity has worn me out, I'm gonna go take a nap. Stay real, and stay metal!

BOGDANOFF TWINS IN-INTERVIEW

We're running out of ideas over at Metal Mavericks, so we thought that we'd reach out (ie. fabricate shite out of thin air) to the Bogdanoff twins, who have absolutely nothing to do with metal whatsoever. Brothers Igor and Grichka Bogdanoff are French TV personalities who are known for their bizarre physical appearance, though those in the Anglosphere will best know them from internet memes claiming that they pull the strings behind the crypto market

Bogdanoffs, how do you do?

We are good, we just dumped eet in your toilet

Yeah it smells rank. So tell me, what's the next step of your master plan?

Well now that we have completely dominated ze crypto market, we have decided to shift our attention to ze metal scene. We will flood your scene with poseurs until there iz nothing left but pathetic little scene enfants running about doing ze air karate at ze death-core shows

But why?

Why not? We have always been gars fous, or as you British would say, 'madlads.' (does a shit impression of an Essex lad) "Anybody want ze Cheeky Nandos?" We do eet for shits and giggles. We have been meddling in your pathetic little scene for longer than you can imagine - who do you think invented Bring Me Ze Horizon? Who do you think invented nu-metal? Who do you think made Metallica sell out after ...And Justice For All?

Why would you do such a thing?

Why not? We have no motive, no bæuf with anybody. We are bored and we have too much power in our hands, we play with ze proles like zey are ants. Get eet?

No not really...

I must warn you that you are asking too many questions, and we could have your whole family killed in an instant, we could dump eet. Understand? Excellent, merci.

at this point the Bogs shapeshift into magical dragon demons and eat our interviewer alive, ie. I can't be fucked to write anymore. I'm going to bed now cya

ok bye now lol

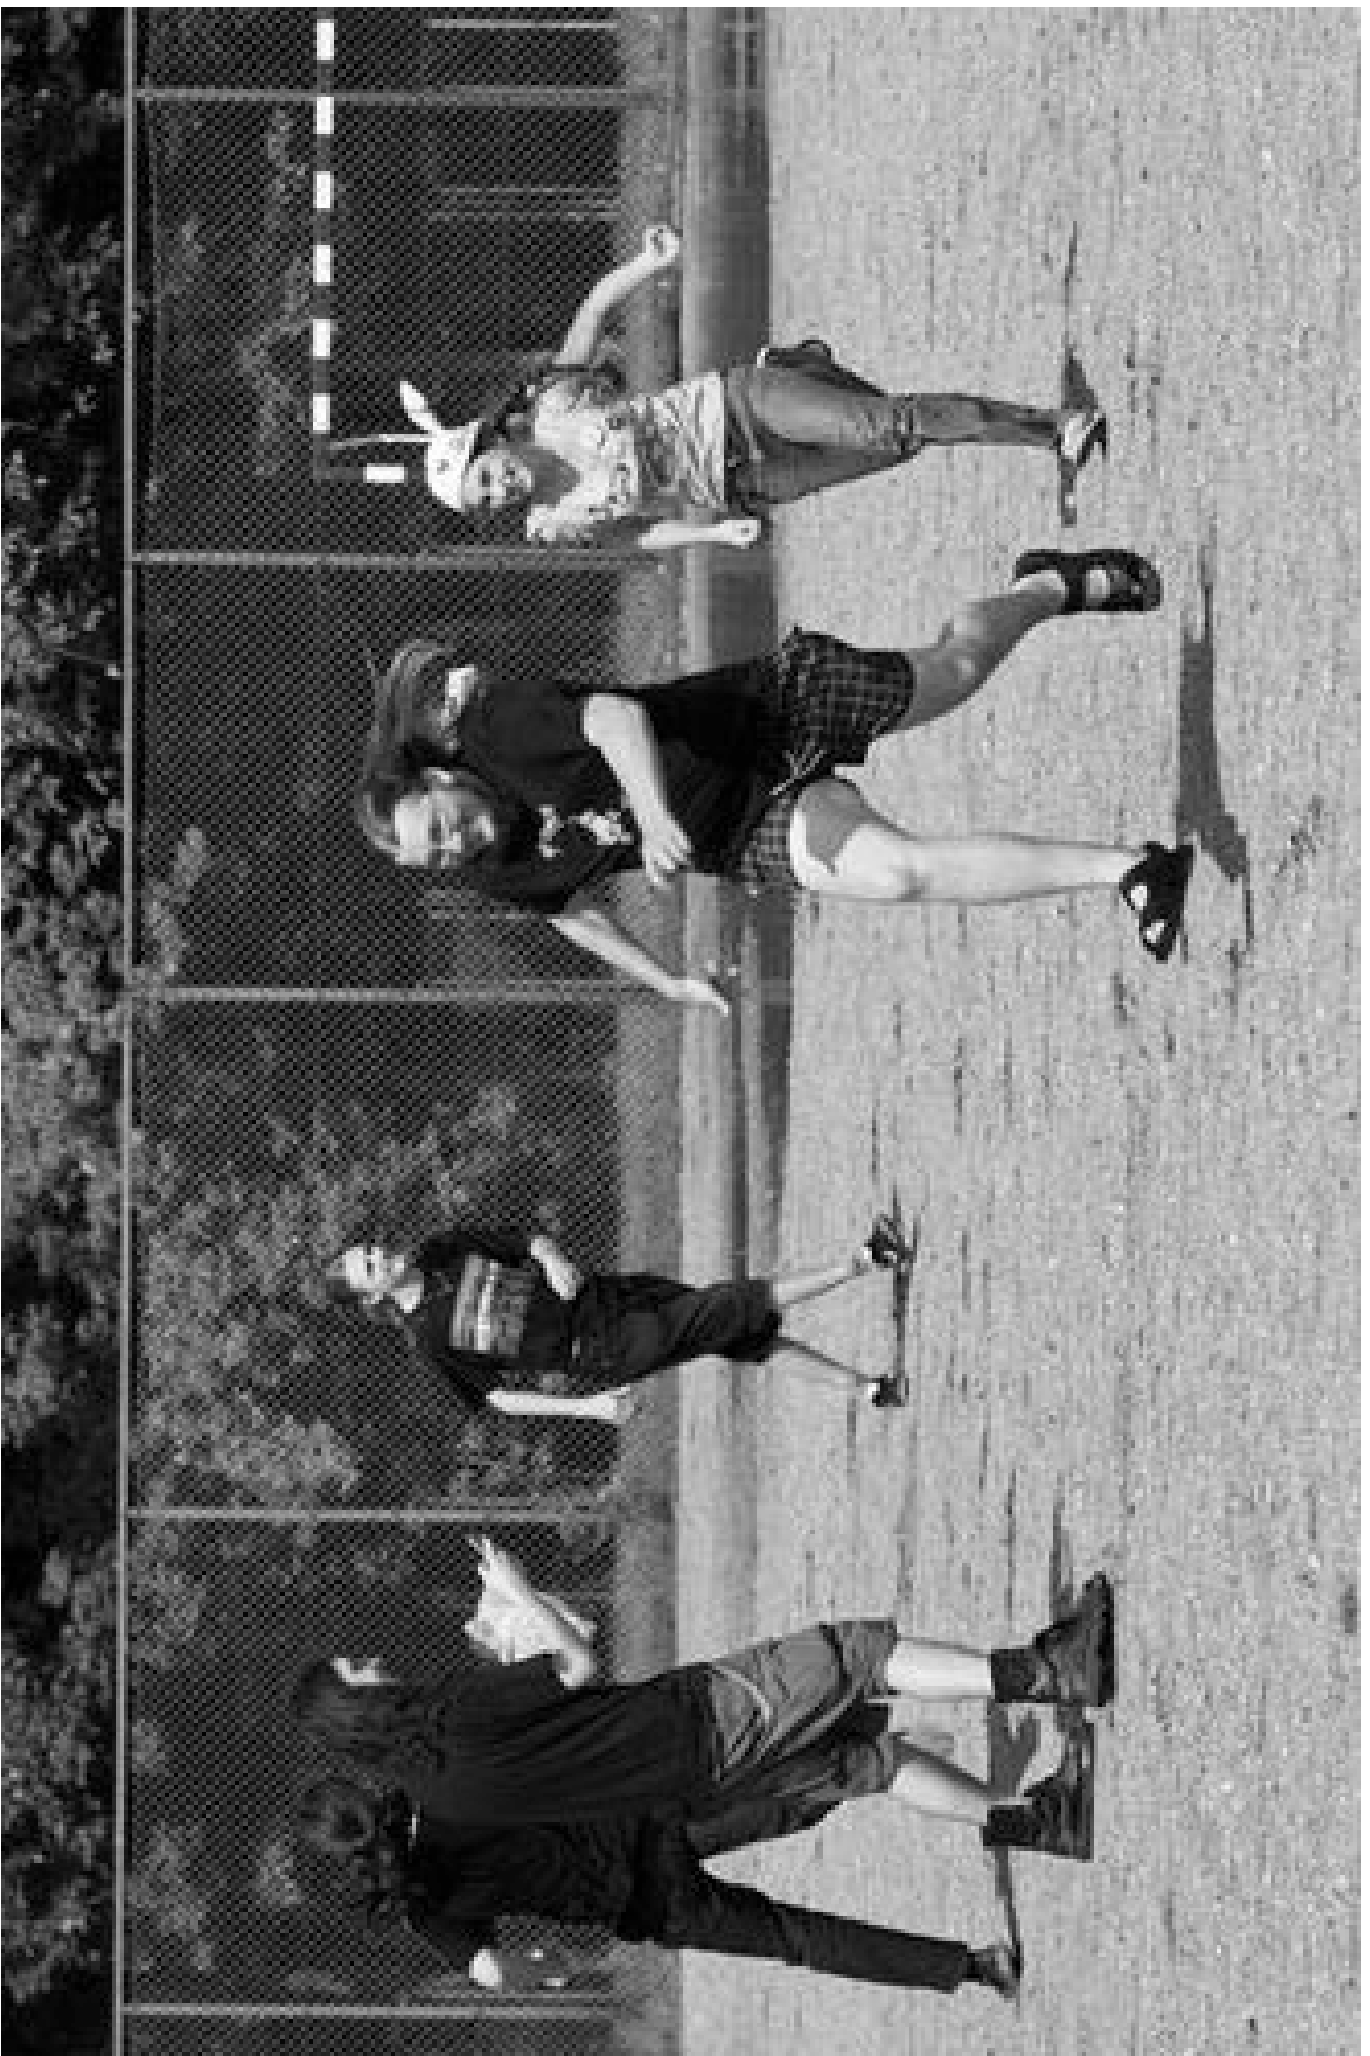

We have officially run out of things to write about at Metal Mavericks. We hope you have enjoyed this issue as much as we enjoyed writing it, ie. not at all (I actually had a blast writing this but enjoying things isn't kvlt so don't tell anyone I said that thx luv xoxo).

Join us for the even bigger and even better next issue, where we will be interview Barney the Dinosaur, who has just started his very own DSBM band. Brutal!

However, whether or not there is a second issue to speak of depends on whether or not I can be fucked to get my arse in gear to write it all out, and... not to get anybody down, but knowing me and my work ethic, I wouldn't count on it, soz luv. Anyway that's me, bai now!!

write ur own zine here

draw ur own picasso here